

MARCH SAYS WIN VICTORY ON WEST FRONT

MARKED LULL DEVELOPED IN FIGHTING

BATTLE HAS REACHED A NEUTRAL CONCLUSION AND ALL DANGER OF A GERMAN COUNTER ATTACK HAS BEEN REMOVED.

BRITISH ADVANCE LINE

French Troops Advance Line Slightly On Pleading Front According To Latest Reports Received.

With French Army in France. Aug. 15.—Along the new battle front on Gury to the Thiescourt standstill today. In addition to the St. Claude and Ecouville farms we hold ground to the north end of Velval Village and a footing in Plessier de Roye park. The battle, therefore, has reached a neutral conclusion and the danger of a counter attack from Thiescourt Massif has been removed.

New Operation. It is unknown whether the battle will be renewed, but it is likely that a new operation with stronger force and greater power on both sides.

Line Has Advanced. London.—The British line has been advanced slightly east of Thiescourt in the district of Chaumes on the enemy front today's war office statement says.

Retreat Specialist. Paris, Aug. 15.—Hans von Boehm, the German "Retreat Specialist," has been appointed to the supreme German command on the Somme front. The newspapers believe that this change in the German command is a sign of the German withdrawal from the first application of his tactics.

Barbarian Troops. General Von Boehm and his former command, the German "Ace" army, stand the brunt of the allied pressure in the Marne salient previously to the withdrawal to the north. The German troops engaged in the fighting east and southeast of Amiens have been under the command of General Von der Marwitz and Von Huth and in the army group of General Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria.

Artillery Active. The violent artillery duel between the Aves and the Oise continued during the night according to the statement from the war office today. A German raid in Champagne failed.

Moscow's Capture. Whether the Soviet troops were forced to retreat from Moscow or not, the loss of the city to the Soviet government undoubtedly will be a serious blow to their colleagues. Moscow, the ancient capital of Russia, was made the Soviet capital in 1918. The Lenin government fled from Petrograd, toward the German troops were marching. It has been reported within the past few days that the Germans had renewed their march toward Petrograd. Czechoslovak troops have been reported in force along the Volga, about 60 miles east of Moscow.

CHANGES LINES.—Allied success in the Somme apparently has compelled the Germans to realize their position between Albert and Arras. Enemy troops have begun a retirement on a wide front, but complete details of the movement are lacking. Between the Aves and the Oise, the fighting is still confined to local action at various points. The British and French have improved their position slightly north of the Somme, southwest of Roye, southwest of Lagny and along the Oise. Enemy troops have shown no disposition to counterattack elsewhere and have

KEEPING THE LINE OPEN TO TRENCHES

Erecting telephone lines behind the trenches.

Keeping the telephone communications between the advancing allies and their headquarters open is an important item in the great offensive of the allied armies. This British official photo shows British soldiers erecting a telephone line across lands laid in ruins by the Germans in their advance and again devastated in their hurried retreat.

NOT DEFINED YET.—The extent of the German withdrawal north of Albert is not yet clearly defined and its effect upon the situation as a whole is problematical. Field Marshal Haig announces the enemy has left his forward position at Beaumont, Hamel, Serre, Prieux-au-Mont and Busigny. These are in the Hebuterne sector where the Germans were stopped in their offensive of March 21.

VAIN EFFORTS.—Vain efforts were made by the Germans to reach the heights around Hebuterne, as their position in this sector is dominated by the British guns. Should the German line be moved back any great depth the line south to Albert and thence to the Somme would be affected. Likewise the line northward to the Scarpe might have to be readjusted. It is not unlikely that the movement here is similar in purpose to the recent withdrawal in the Lys salient and is part of a German plan to get into as strong positions as possible on the entire front from Ypres to Rheims.

AUSTRALIANS ACTIVE.—North of the Somme Australian troops have improved their position between Bray and Eindhoven, reaching the western outskirts of Bray, one of the main bastions of the line south from Albert. East of Parvillers, northwest of Roye, the British have made progress toward the Chaumelles-Roye railroad. Lagny still holds out. The French, however, continue their pressure and now are a little more than a mile south of the town. German resistance is strong, the enemy counter attacking repeatedly on the hills and on the woods of the region there.

ON THE OISE.—On the Western bank of the Oise, slightly more than six miles south of Noyon, the French have advanced their position. The town itself is on the lowland, but the French also hold the heights to the West and Northwest which were part of the defensive system of Oisecamp forest East of the Oise and Thiescourt Wood south of Lagny. While the French have not broken the Roye-Lagny line, the line is still far from being saved to the Germans and a French advance of even less than a mile would throw them out of balance.

CZECH ARMY IN SIBERIA FACES DEATH

DANGEROUS POSITION

ARE LIABLE TO BE CUT OFF IF AID IS NOT RECEIVED SOON, SAYS CORRESPONDENT OF THE LONDON TIMES IN VLADIVOSTOK

Must Have Reinforcements on Large Scale—Times Urges Hastening Of Allied Action To Clear Serious Situation

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, Aug. 15.—The Czechoslovak army in Siberia, in a dangerous position and are liable to be cut off altogether says the correspondent of the Times at Vladivostok. Only a fraction of those between the Volga and Lake Balkal are armed and all are deficient in every sort of equipment. They are cut off from the far East and it is impossible to learn what is happening to them. The correspondent says there is much apprehension concerning them in Vladivostok and adds:

"The Czechs here are pathetically anxious to push west and assist their brothers. They are contemplating desperate measures in order to reach them but their forces are small compared to their opponents, while they lack most auxiliary equipment and are deficient even in the essentials."

Allies Must Help. It is the allied intention to hold the rear while the Czechs do the fighting. General Dietrich's small force might well be annihilated, but it is inconceivable that they will refrain from active co-operation and that co-operation must be on a larger scale than hitherto contemplated. In an editorial, the Times emphasizes the urgency of hastening allied action.

London, Aug. 15.—The Soviet government has issued a proclamation declaring that the Russian republic is in danger, according to a telegram from Helsinki, received in Stockholm and quoted by the correspondent of the Times, there. The Petrograd soviet has removed to Kronstadt owing to the insecurity of the city. Bands of armed peasants are reported marching on Petrograd from surrounding districts. They declare they are starving and that the Red Guards have stolen all their food. The situation with the soviet is said to be prevailing everywhere in Russia.

Troops Evacuated. London, Aug. 15.—Reuters Limited learned the British troops are on their way to join the Czechoslovak troops on the Ussuri front, were reported by the Czechs with the greatest enthusiasm at Nikolai and elsewhere.

The Ussuri river joining the Amur near Khabarovsk, north of Vladivostok. The Czechs have been engaged with the Bolsheviks in this region for several weeks. Amsterdam, Aug. 15.—Soviet troops have begun to evacuate Moscow. The Gold reserve which has been in the basement of the Kremlin, already has been removed to an unknown place. Dispatches received by London Monday, report Premier Lenin and war minister Trotsky had fled to the naval base at Kronstadt, adding that all the government department also would be removed there. The flight was due to threats by the social revolutionists of the "Left" that they were about to begin a reign of terror there.

Madison.—Governor Philipp has complete information upon to write a storm story. The governor left Madison at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for Kilbourn by automobile. Before he reached Sauk City he was caught in one of the worst rain storms which has swept Dane county this season. The roads were flooded and the governor did not reach Kilbourn until nearly 6 o'clock. He hired a special engine to carry him over to Tomah, where he spoke last night.

GREAT RECEPTION GIVEN SELECTMENT FROM THE NORTH

FIFTY LUSCIOUS WATER MELONS DISTRIBUTED AMONG BOYS BY CANTEN COMMITTEE OF LOCAL RED CROSS.

OFF TO KANSAS CITY

Seventeen Sent By Local Board Last Evening—Eleven More Boys Left This Morning For Other Mechanical Schools.

With one of the most enthusiastic farewells ever staged in this city, northern Rock county sent seventeen happy and proud selectees to Kansas City at nine o'clock last evening, where they will attend the Sweeney school of auto mechanics. To the music of the Bower City band and the singing of the hundreds who were present at the St. Paul depot the men were sped on their way to the Kansas City school, together with nearly four hundred selectees from the northern part of the state. Harold Amerphol was honored with the appointment as leader of the contingent, and kept the men together so that not a hitch resulted in the entrainment.

The local boys were scheduled to leave at eight o'clock, but owing to the fact that the special train from the north was nearly an hour late in arriving in the city, it was after nine o'clock before the train pulled out of the depot. The fourteen committees of the local chapter of the Red Cross pleasantly surprised the boys with a truck-load of water melons. The melons were distributed through the train under the supervision of Red Cross William of the Red Cross canten committee. Stamped post-cards with views of different public buildings in Janesville were also given to the men, who they might write to their parents telling of the reception which they were given in the Bower City. The cards contained this greeting: "Janesville greets you as you enter the ranks of the Crusaders in Humanity's cause for freedom and justice for all people. On each watermelon is stamped a Red Cross emblem and the words on the back, 'Compliments, Canteen Committee, Janesville, Wis.' Chapter, American Red Cross."

The parade to the St. Paul depot from the post office was a most patriotic spectacle. With the Bower City band in the lead followed by a platoon from Company 3 of the Wisconsin State Guards, under the command of Captain Atwood, the honor men were escorted to the depot shortly before eight o'clock. At the depot the contingent together and protected the crowds from accident.

Other Contingents. Leonard Luckwood and Quinn Loomis, both of this city, left at five o'clock yesterday afternoon for Indianapolis where they will take up a course in mechanical training. The leader was Mr. T. J. Conard of this city, the next contingent of selectees to leave the city departed at ten o'clock this morning for Madison, Wis. The contingent of Wisconsin, entering the service to the Red Cross, were five men including the leader: Kendall Newman, Walton Kalkus, Walter Schilling and Joe Donahue, all of Janesville. The contingent of the Peoria contingent, today left at eleven o'clock over the St. Paul road. The names of those who left together with their destinations: Walter B. Hildrich, Janesville, Beloit College; Leslie Drummond, Janesville, Leslie Miller, Evansville, Archibald Striegler, Milton, Ill. and Ernest McCarty, Peoria, Ill. Ernest McCarty was appointed leader of the Peoria contingent.

Dismissed Case. Madison.—Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Circuit court on Wednesday dismissed the case of O. A. Lukken of Dane county, who brought an action against Dr. O. H. Eliason, state veterinarian, for the value of cattle slaughtered under the tuberculosis law. Mr. Lukken claimed that the cattle when slaughtered were found to be not infected with tuberculosis. The court held, however, that the six cows belonging to the plaintiff which were slaughtered, were found to be infected with tuberculosis at the time of the slaughter. As a result of this finding the complaint in the case was dismissed.

DAIRY DAY AT FAIR IS BIG SUCCESS

ROCK COUNTY MILK PRODUCERS' DAY AT FAIR DRAWS CROWDS—MILK GIVEN AWAY TO ALL.

GIVE SPECIAL PROGRAM

Program of Addresses and Dairy Demonstrations Put On In the Morning—W. J. Kittle of Chicago Association Speaks.

Everybody is drinking milk at the fair today. It is Rock County Milk Producers' association day and farmers from every section and corner of the county are flocking to the grounds to help boost the dairy industry and to enjoy the races, exhibits and amusements at Janesville's big fair.

Twenty thousand glasses of ice-cold milk are being given away today at the fair. The Rock County Milk Producers' association, situated near the secretary's office, has arranged for the distribution of the milk. The dairy day is a big success. Attendance at the fair today bids fair to eclipse even that of yesterday. A larger crowd was already on the grounds by noon today, and more automobiles were in the parking places than at any other time in the fair's history.

The special program put on by the Milk Producers' association proved a great drawing card and is the reason for the large number of people on the grounds in the morning. At 9 o'clock the dairy cattle were judged by H. G. Van Pelt, of Waterloo, Iowa. Mr. Van Pelt is recognized as one of the greatest judges of dairy cattle in the country. The judging of the dairy cattle at 10 o'clock, Mr. Van Pelt gave a lecture on the value of dairy cows and a dairy cow demonstration. His lecture was on the value and good points of dairy cows, and he explained the breeding, feeding, and development of dairy cattle.

W. J. Kittle, secretary of the Chicago Milk Producers' association, gave an address near the grandstand, following the dairy cow demonstration. The speaker discussed the present situation of the dairy industry in a clear and forceful manner. Mr. Kittle has made a special study of the conditions prevailing in Europe, and spoke of the dairy situation which now prevails in Europe, and of the promising outlook of the dairy business in this country after the war is over.

At noon the members of the association and their families held a basket dinner on the grounds. The picnic was a success. The county Milk Producers' association deserves great credit for co-operating with the fair officials in adding this feature to the fair. The association's program—H. C. Hemmingsway, John L. Fisher, H. C. Huggins, Tent and Equipment—C. C. Clark, J. B. Sprackling, E. C. Nitt, J. McCann, and directors of the Janesville Milk Producers' association.

The farm machinery exhibit inside the track attracted a great deal of attention. There are several different exhibits of farm tractors, milking machines, dairy equipment and utilities, barn equipment and farm machinery in general. The greatest number of farmers was interested in the tractor demonstration. At least six tractors of the latest construction by plowing up the ground inside the track.

The track was in excellent condition for today's races, which started shortly after 2:30 this afternoon. Three stake races were on the program, the 2:14, with fourteen entries, for a purse of $1,000; the 2:17, with fifteen entries, for a purse of $500; and the 2:24 trot, with twenty-three entries, for a purse of $500.

The Baby Beef contest was held yesterday afternoon under the direction of Prof. Allen West. First prize was a $25 prize won by John E. McCann, who will receive $10 and a free trip to the National Live Stock exposition to be held in Chicago Dec. 1-8, donated by the Union Stock Yards and transit company of Chicago. Second prize of $10 went to Harold G. Hal of Edgerton, and third prize of $5 to Ted Ogerton. The junior prize of $10 and the free trip to the live stock show were won by Harry T. McCann, and the second prize of $10 by C. H. Culver.

Tomorrow's program will be featured by the big live stock parade in front of the grand stand at 1:15 in the afternoon. A million dollars' worth of the best pure-blood live stock will be seen in this parade. Following is the complete program for tomorrow:

Morning. Awarding the prizes in the Milk Contest. Band Concerts by the Bower City Band.

WEATHER PROPHETS WILL LEAVE FOR FRANCE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] College Station, Texas, Aug. 15.—The first class of weather observers ever trained for the United States army is preparing to leave shortly for France, where the members will report on the state of the weather and atmospheric conditions as an aid in planning gas, artillery, airplane and various other attacks. Experts who have pushed the 300 or more students through the intensive course of instruction at the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Texas declared that the men now are capable of determining the state of weather for a distance of twelve miles above the earth.

It is the plan of the war department to train 1,000 more at the college, which is the only school of general meteorology in the country, and this will necessitate two more courses in shifts of 300 students because of limited facilities. Only college men are fitted to take up the work, and the first class includes professors, mineralogists, geographers and other technical experts. Dr. Oliver L. Bassig of the United States weather bureau and John Hopkins university, Baltimore, is chief instructor.

STRONG OPPOSITION APPEARS IN GERMANY

Stockholm, Aug. 15.—Efforts of big employers of labor in Germany to prepare the way for a general adoption of the American Taylor system after the war have already provoked strong opposition in trade union circles. In industrial circles it is argued that the loss of male workers due to the war will absolutely compel German manufacturers, if they are to meet outside competition successfully, to increase the individual production of their employees.

The Metal Workers' union has recently caused an exhaustive study of this system to be made by delegates from seventeen different branches. The delegates have filed a report which declares to be "a further step in the ruthless exploitation of the worker." It is pointed out that it practically eliminates the lower-grade laborer, "who, however, however, also has a right to a proper wage and who also desires to maintain his family properly." Well-known engineers and technicians have also taken a stand against the Taylor system.

American Fishing Schooner Destroyed By German U-Boat Off Cape May Yesterday Afternoon

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Aug. 15.—The American schooner Dorothy Barrett was sunk by a submarine off Cape May, N. J. Sea planes and submarines were sent to the scene of the disaster and the schooner was located. A report believed to have been received by the navy today said, when the submarine appeared and opened fire on the schooner, the crew took to the life boats and have been landed at Cape May. The schooner was set on fire by the shells. When the planes and submarines were sighted the schooner was sinking. One of the planes was flying low dropped a depth charge upon the schooner, presumably from the wake of the submarine. The schooner was set on fire and the crew took to the life boats. There was no evidence of wreckage, but the submarine did not appear. Portsmouth, N. C., Aug. 15.—A firing was heard today off the North Carolina coast in the vicinity of where a German submarine has been operating. Beginning about 8 o'clock this morning the bombing of two guns, one of larger caliber than the other, continued for about 40 minutes. Others of the crew were landed earlier in the week. Washington.—The American tank steamer Frederick R. Kollong, torpedoed Tuesday evening by a German submarine is still afloat, 18 miles east of the Barnegat, N. J. coast, the navy department was advised today and there is a chance that she may be brought into port. Seven of the crew are still missing, but the navy has no confirmation of experts that two men were killed by the explosion of the torpedoes.

Extension Imperative. Immediately upon the draft ages was declared by the army representatives to be imperative in order that the United States may throw its full strength in the struggle and win. The fighting in the future is said to be a general March said the system of voluntary enlistment in the United States automatically supports.

Plans for highland consideration in the senate next Monday of the new man power bill extending the draft ages were blocked today when Chairman Chamberlain of the military committee submitted the measure with a favorable report.

lately made his residence in Minnesota, was up from Camp Grant Saturday and spent the day with friends.
He expects to leave camp and go across within a short time.

A beautiful and refreshing rain came to this section of the county on

LOVE in a HURRY

BY GELETT BURGESS

ILLUSTRATED BY RAY WALTERS

CHAPTER I.

At nine o'clock in the morning, punctual to the second, Flodie Fisher unlocked the door marked "Hall Bonistelle, Artist-Photographer," and walked into the office.

The large light room was vacant. Flodie shook her head in sorrowful disappointment at her employer's tardiness, and shrugged her shoulders. "Oh, dear!" she muttered impatiently. "Just what I expected." Then, with a shake of her head as one who says, "It must be done!" she walked in and listened outside Hall Bonistelle's bedroom door. For a moment she stood poised, awkwardly graceful—or rather gracefully awkward, perhaps, so quiet, so original was her attitude. She knocked with firmness. The summons was peremptory, yet it had the secret indulgence of a mother for her only child. The only answer was a not unusual harmonic growl.

She banged on the door again. "This time she really meant it," Mr. Bonistelle said. "You must get up immediately—come on now!"

A wait—then the unwilling reply, "All right!"

Flodie walked back to the office, yawning, and sat down at her desk. A leaf from the calendar pad was ripped off, the desk top was dusted with a cloth; then she stopped suddenly. The elevator door had banged.

Almost immediately there entered to her the sad young janitor, Mr. Alfred Smallish. He gave a pathetic hopeless look at Flodie and hung at anchor in the doorway, meekly.

"Morning, Miss Fisher," he said, and grinned.

Flodie gave a glance at him, casually, then gave with more interest. Pale blue eyes, a large Roman nose, white-corn ears and a quivering mouth and Alfred. His chin was that of a beard, sloping back wearily to a prominent Adam's apple.

She fumbled over the photographs on the table behind her.

"Alfred," she said in the voice of a school matron, "did you see a picture of me I had here on the table the other day?"

He turned red. "You—you didn't want that picture, did you, Miss Fisher?" His eyes flared with wild, vainly. "Well, I'll bring it back, if you say so, only I thought, maybe—"

"Well, Alfred Smallish, I like that!" Flodie exclaimed.

"Oh, Miss Fisher—you see, well, I didn't quite dare to ask you, and—well, you know, I thought it's just grand of you, Miss Fisher—I'd think the world of it, and—couldn't you possibly—"

"That's enough, Alfred! I don't dare to discuss it. You just walk that picture back immediately!" Flodie's voice was sharp, but—Flodie couldn't help pitying him. She weakened. "Perhaps, I'll give you one, sometime. I'll see."

Mr. Smallish beamed with pleasure, but he had a talent for blunders. "Some folks mightn't think you was pretty, Miss Fisher, but I think—"

Flodie whipped out her watch. "Gracious socks!" she cried, "where's Mr. Bonistelle's eggs?"

"I'll go down and see if they're ready, Miss Fisher." He turned heavily.

"Well, hurry up, then! If his breakfast isn't here when he comes, he's liable to eat the tablecloth and go right back to bed. Quick now!"

"Yes!" Mr. Smallish left in dejection. Flodie walked swiftly into the studio and knocked again at her employer's door. "Mr. Bonistelle! Are you ready for breakfast?" she called. Flodie's tone had changed; it was almost musical. Her face had changed also. She stood as if awaiting a vision.

Footsteps were heard in Hall's bedroom. Now, there are two kinds of men: those who are shocked even unto mortification by being discovered in the act of shaving, and those who take a malicious delight in their outrageous condition. Hall Bonistelle opened the door and protruded his belated face shamelessly, grinning.

Even disheveled as he was at present, scandalously tousled and bedaubed with soap suds, his smile was disarming.

Flodie's adoration of him, though of the maternal order, did not lessen her firmness. "Do you realize how many you've got to do today, Mr. Bonistelle?"

"Nothing to do but work," he chanted gaily.

"You have an appointment at ten o'clock—and you know how you always poke over that old breakfast!"

"Speaking of which, wherefore not here?" He joyously chuckled her under the chin.

Flodie loved it but dared not show. "It'll be here by the time you're fit to be seen. You wash that face of yours and hurry up with it, you big baby, you! I've got too much to do myself to talk to you!"

"All right, oh, fair assistant, I must obey!" Hall disappeared and Flodie marched back to the office.

Opening the letter box on the door, she took out of a dozen or so envelopes. One set she inspected critically—they were all in feminine handwriting—and then rather unwillingly laid them aside. The others she tore briskly open, each received a keen, shrewd look. They were filed or thrown away.

Little and whimsical and odd, Flodie's appearance had something of the humor of a puppy, the sad wisdom of a monkey. The combination made her face pathetic. Crinkly, colorless hair and hazel eyes had Flodie. Her fine, regular teeth were her best asset, and when she smiled, her main relief from plainness. From her costume, which was careless, to her gestures, which were queer, Flodie Fisher was an original. She had charm and magnetism. Whether she made one laugh or weep, eccentric little Flodie was distinctly lovable.

Mr. Smallish now reappeared with a loaded breakfast tray.

"Put him on that table in the studio," Flodie commanded.

"Have those giddy green garlands come for tonight?" she asked.

"Why, yes, they're out in the hall, Miss Fisher. What time does the party begin?"

"One minute past ten."

"Will there be many here, Miss Fisher?"

"Oh, I don't know, Alfred, about twenty, I suppose—men, ladies and women. Especially women! They don't usually refuse Mr. Bonistelle's studio invitations, I notice! There'll be too many anyway. There won't be half of 'em come till the theaters are over, though. We've invited a squad of actresses."

Alfred stopped, his arms loaded with garlands. "What, real ones?"

"No, only catnip, I guess. Not nearly so real as the other women who'll be here, anyway. There are more good actresses off the stage than on, Alfred! It'll be good as a play for me!"

Alfred gazed longingly from the threshold, his eyes aflutter. "Say, Miss Fisher, are you going to be dressed up like you was the last time?"

She dropped a fantastic courtesy. "Precisely the same, Alfred; our good old friend Crepe de Chine. Now you gallop along with those evergreens before your eyes drop out, Mr. Smallish!"

Alfred left, with the love light extinguished.

Flodie went into the studio and pounded at the chamber door again. "Mr. Bonistelle! Hurry up! Your breakfast is awfully impatient. Come along! That old coffee is swearing already!"

Hall opened the door, grinning. "And I suppose those eggs are feeling rotten about it," he offered jauntily.

Flodie giggled delightedly and hovered over the table, giving it a few final touches.

Hall Bonistelle was attired in a purple dressing-gown, too evidently the gift of a loving, tasteless female. He showed himself, now, as really

Gunner Depew

By ALBERT N. DEPEW

Ex-Gunner and Chief Petty Officer U. S. Navy—Member of the Foreign Legion of France—Captain Gun Turret, French Battleship Casar—Winner of the Croix de Guerre.

Copyright, 1918, by Reilly and Britton Co., Through Special Arrangement With the George Matthew Adams Service.

I got on the train to Zurich, and at every stop on the way there were more presents and more cameras and more questions. At St. Gallen, they had cards ready for me to write on, and then they were going to send them to anybody I wished. The station at Zurich was packed with people, and I began to think I was a star for sure.

Francis B. Keene, the American conspl general at Zurich, and his assistants, were there to meet me. We walked a few blocks to his office, and all the way the cameras were clicking and the chocolates and cigarettes piling up until I felt like Santa Claus on December 24th. After a little talk with Mr. Keene, he took me to the Stusselhof hotel, where my wounds were dressed—and believe me, they needed it.

The Swiss certainly treated me well. Every time I came out on the streets they followed me around, and they used to give me money. But the money meant just as well have been leather or lead—I could not spend it. Whenever I wanted to buy anything the shopkeeper would make me a present of it.

I also visited the Hotel Bour au Lac, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCormick of Chicago, who are doing such fine work with the Red Cross and are looking after the Belgian and guess everybody thought it was a good thing to tell me good-by—anyway I was shipped into France, going direct to St. Nazaire and from there to Brest.

Then I took a short trip to Hull, England, with a letter from a man at Brandenburg to his wife. She was not at home, but I left the letter and returned to France. I was in France altogether about three weeks, and then went to Barcelona, Spain.

Then I took passage for the States on the C. Lopez y Lopez, a Spanish merchantman. We had mostly "Spigs" on board, which is navy slang for Spaniards. Almost every one of them had a large family of children and a raft of pets. We sailed down through Valencia, Almeria, Malaga, Cadiz and Las Palmas in the Canary Islands. When we left Las Palmas we had a regular menagerie aboard—parrots, canary birds, dogs, monkeys and various beasts. The steerage of that boat was some sight, believe me.

We had boat drill all the way across, of course, and from the way those Spigs rushed about I knew that if a submarine got us the only thing that would be saved would be monkeys. But we did not even have a false alarm all the way over.

I arrived in New York during the month of July, 1917—two years and a half from the time I decided to go abroad to the war zone to get some excitement. I got it, and no mistake. New York harbor and the old statue of Liberty looked mighty good to me, you can bet.

So here I am, and sometimes I have to pinch myself to be sure of it. I certainly enjoy the food and warmth I get here, and except for an occasional pro-German I have no trouble with anybody. My wounds break open once in a while, and I am often bothered inside, on account of the gas I swallowed. They say I cannot get back into the service. It is tough to be knocked out before our own boys get into the scrap.

But I do not know. I am twenty-three years old, and probably have a lot to live for yet. I ought to settle down and be quiet for a while, but comfortable as I am, I think I will have to go to sea again. I think of it many times, and each time it is harder to stay ashore.

THE END.

IF WOMEN ARE ANGELS WHY MAY THEY NOT FLY?

London, Aug. 15.—Lots of women have been told they are angels, but English women want to make a step in that direction by becoming experts at flying.

The flying temperament is a combination of "qualities" as likely to belong to the female as to the male, and many women are asking "Can we or can we not prove" useful for air work?"

They are told by men that good eyesight and good nerves are essential. Most women have both. And combined with these qualifications women have also the intense desire to do something, and they are now set upon proving how much they could do. Naturally they don't expect to serve over the firing line, but there is a variety of ways in which a woman with a flying temperament could make herself useful.

Airplanes could be used for locating and removing wounded from the field, and for carrying certain cases from the clearing stations to hospitals—surely a sphere in which a woman would run no risk of becoming unsexed.

English women have no lust for blood. They don't want to kill, but

WALK ERECT AT EIGHTY

Because a man or woman is old does not mean that they must walk along bent over and supported with a cane. A man can be as vigorous and healthy at eighty as at twenty if he aids the organs of the body in performing their functions.

All diseases whether of a malignant or weak character tend to tear away our vitality. You must contract disease in its incipient stage if you would live a happy and useful long life.

How many times a day one can hear any one of the following remarks and perhaps all of them: "My car seems to have no life to it at all," or "I can't get my car started to save my life," or "I wonder what makes my car smell so bad," or "Why does my car balk and jerk so much," or "I wonder what makes my car smoke so badly, is it on fire?" or "I cannot make this hill, she doesn't seem to have any 'pep' at all," and numerous other such remarks.

Mr. Motorist, do you know what the trouble is? We can tell you and prove it to you with a very few words. Car owners who make such above remarks are using A BLENDED, CHEAP, LOW TEST GASOLINE—that's all it is. Yes, we mean to say that a cheap low test gasoline will cause an unlimited amount of trouble, and will cause any motorist to make any one or all the above remarks.

And that is not all; all the time that you are getting these bad results and very poor service from such blended low test gasoline, part of this gasoline is not exploding in your cylinders, and what becomes of it? It naturally must go somewhere—it passes by your piston rings and down into your crank case, ruining your oil and as you all know, gasoline is not a lubricating oil, it will burn out your bearings if allowed to remain there any length of time. Now this is saying a good deal but we are willing to demonstrate this to you any time you will step into our office at 103 N. Main St.

Now car owners, we have given you two good reasons why you should not use a cheap, low test, blended gasoline in your car at any time, namely, first, because it is very unsatisfactory when using; and second, because it is very injurious to your motor.

Now, automobile owners, what gasoline do you want to use in your car?

Lawton's Imperial Gasoline is sold at all the principal garages in Janesville and vicinity, and we know that any one of our dealers will honestly recommend Lawton's Imperial as the best and the cheapest gasoline in the end. Our Imperial Gasoline speaks for itself.

IF WOMEN ARE ANGELS WHY MAY THEY NOT FLY?

London, Aug. 15.—Lots of women have been told they are angels, but English women want to make a step in that direction by becoming experts at flying.

The flying temperament is a combination of "qualities" as likely to belong to the female as to the male, and many women are asking "Can we or can we not prove" useful for air work?"

They are told by men that good eyesight and good nerves are essential. Most women have both. And combined with these qualifications women have also the intense desire to do something, and they are now set upon proving how much they could do. Naturally they don't expect to serve over the firing line, but there is a variety of ways in which a woman with a flying temperament could make herself useful.

Airplanes could be used for locating and removing wounded from the field, and for carrying certain cases from the clearing stations to hospitals—surely a sphere in which a woman would run no risk of becoming unsexed.

English women have no lust for blood. They don't want to kill, but
